1. What is the temporary protection ?

Temporary protection is an exceptional measure authorized by decision of the Council of the European Union. It aims to protect people who are massively displaced from a third country and cannot return in safe and lasting conditions.

Recognition of temporary protected status results in the issuance, by the prefecture, of a temporary stay permit valid for six months, with the mention "beneficiary of temporary protection". It is renewable as long as the protection lasts.

The temporary protected status gives access to a certain number of rights and in particular to the allowance for asylum seekers (ADA).

2. Where should an ADA application be made ?

The temporary protected person requests the ADA:

- after obtaining their temporary stay permit, from the OFII counter present at the prefecture;
- or exceptionally to the territorially competent OFII office of which it depends. The contact details of the territorial offices of the OFII are available at: <https://www.ofii.fr/en/ou-nous-trouver/>

- the number of adults and children who make up the family
